We will be hosting Future of Maritime in 2 locations: Hong Kong on 10-12 June, and Singapore on 12-14 June.

We have seen over the past few years the rise of digitization to improve operational efficiency, reduce cost and provide up to date and relevant safety, environmental and operational structures. We have seen the first steps towards autonomous surface vessels and we have also seen significant cyber-attacks on maritime infrastructure. These represent new challenges for the Industry.

Future of Maritime will ask, and answer some of the important questions that are currently facing the industry including:

- How do we cope with this technological and digital transformation?
- What are the human factors to consider and embed?
- How will maintenance change and how will standards be maintained?
- How do we achieve the right dynamic balance between the use of technology in all its forms and the use of the skills, experience and judgement of seafarers?
- How do we learn from past lessons to optimise performance and safety in the future?
- What can we learn from other sectors and the military?
- What are the threats these changes pose?

Members of the Hong Kong Logistics Association can enjoy a 20% discount to attend the conferences! Quote promo code HKLA20 upon registration!
